City Water In U. S. Building

On Tuesday this week the piping the city water to the U. S. jail, Marshal's and Jailor's residence was completed. The equipment includes fire connections accessible from either inside or outside of the yard and fire hose enough to protect the whole government reserve.

The installation of city water is of consequence as a fire protection, aside from the convenience afforded by running water, for the highly inflammable condition of the buildings in time of dry weather is a menace to the safety of person and property.

October Wedding

On Monday afternoon, Oct. 9th, Miss Cathrine Jorgensen and Wm. J. Beach, both of Ketchikan, were married by Rev. J. S. Clark at the Presbyterian Parsonage.

The Sentinel joins with the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Beach in the congratulations and best wishes.

Pleasing Pictures

A goodly gathering of Wrangell people turned out Tuesday evening to see the pleasing motion pictures presented by M. H. Crawford and J. Bandur, two enterprising young men from Seattle who are touring Alaska towns. The films presented were high-grade in every way and the machine is of the very latest model which eliminates the disagreeable "flicker".

There will be another program presented tonight as advertised in another column and a good house is predicted.

Birthday Party

Miss Katherine Matheson entertained several of her playmates at her home last Saturday afternoon in honor of her third birthday. The guests were Misses Mary McTague, Margaret McCormack, Elizabeth Kincaid and Masters Wilbur Gartley and James Wheeler.

Several Parties Hunt Ducks

Excellent Shooting In This Vicinity Attract Hunters From Afar

The excellent duck and goose shooting on the tide flats at the mouth of the Stikine has attracted several parties of Nimrods from far and near to enjoy the sport.

From Seattle and Tacoma comes Jas. R. Steepet and W. R. Nichols. They joined and are the guests of a party from Juneau headed by Chas. Goldstein. This party will stay a week on the flats hunting ducks and geese and will then go up the Stikine to hunt grizzly bear.

On Sunday, J. Raber, Ex-Postmaster Williams and J. Finzel, came up from Ketchikan on the launch Teddy to enjoy a week's shooting among the ducks.

Wrangell is justly famous for its quality, quantity and variety of hunting. Probably no other town is within so easy reach to such hunting as the hills and flats of this vicinity afford.

Sparks

Alert Fire Co., No. 1, met Wednesday evening with seven members present.

The application of Wm. F. Schmael was favorably considered. Mr. Schmael's experience in firemen's work will prove invaluable to the company.

The regular meeting night was changed by an amendment to the by-laws from the second Wednesday to the first Monday of each month.

With the date of the meeting changed, it is expected that future meetings of the company will be better attended.

Telegraph On Last Trip Arctic Brothers Elect Officers

The river boat Telegraph, left Sunday for its last trip to Telegraph Creek, B. C. The river is getting very shallow and difficult to navigate.

Geo. Kluquitz, who has been working on the Telegraph this season will stay at Telegraph Creek until all the big-game hunters come out of the interior and will bring them down with the scow which he built for the Telegraph.

Dance While Boat Waits

Several Wrangell people availed themselves of an opportunity to enjoy a dance given at the Wrangell Hotel last Saturday evening. The City of Seattle was in port waiting for the tide so many of the officers and passengers joined in the merry-making. The attendance was not large but everyone present enjoyed the dance very much.

The local camp of Arctic Brotherhood elected officers at the regular meeting on the night of October 4th. The following officers were elected to hold office for six months and last Wednesday evening were installed: Arctic Chief, H. Gartley; Vice-Arctic Chief, Geo. Skelton; Arctic Chaplain, P. Warrington; Arctic Recorder, M. Katzenmeyer; Arctic Keeper of Nuggets, T. Gartley; Arctic Trail Guide, Arthur Soxset; Arctic Trail Blazer, Paul F. Staphope; Alchemist, Elmer Carlstrom; Keeper of the Inner Toll-gate, Chas. Nelson; Outer Toll-gate, Chris Veddo; Trustees, J. Grant, B. Hill, A. Engstrom, C. Nelson and S. Cunningham.

Another Quibble.

The First Lighthouse.
The first lighthouse was erected at Pharos, near Alexandria, in Egypt. It was finished in 285 B. C. Its height was 550 feet, and the light, which was kept burning on top at night, was visible forty-one miles away. This tower existed for some 1,600 years, when it was destroyed by an earthquake.

School Notes

Weston Dalgity, Correspondent

Thor Hofstad ranks now as Drum Major of the drum corps.

Mrs. Neil McDonald was a visitor to the primary room last Monday.

The reading done by the first grade during the last week is exceptionally good.

During our late elections we have secured two fine pianists. They are the most accomplished musicians we have met with as yet.

The boys that have left this school promised that they would come and call on us, but we are still patiently waiting for them. We want to show them what we little fellows can do in the way of head work, after Mrs. Burke has us in hand.

Five new pupils: Annie Loftus, Mickey Loftus, Katharine Loftus, Edward Loftus and Ceril Chiquette were enrolled in the primary room during the last week, making a total of forty-nine in that room. There are two vacant seats in the upper room. If new pupils enter we will have to enlarge our rooms and our seating capacity.

Some Facts

The current issue of the semi-monthly magazine, "Railway and Marine News" has an interesting startling article regarding Alaska shipping. Some of the interesting facts gleaned from the article are as follows:

U. S. vessels engaged in Alaskan trade, 108. Vessels totally lost since 1878, 79. Amount paid in total losses, $6,710,000. Alaska coast line served by U. S. vessels, 4,500 miles. Number of lights in 4,500 miles, 47. British Columbia waters served by U. S. vessels, 610 miles. Number of lights in 610 miles, 105.

When these facts concerning the shipping conditions of Alaska and British Columbia waters are held in a comparative light, it is easy to see the incentive for the statement in the above-mentioned article that "Alaska shipping needs immediate protection from the U. S. government".

The Way of a Woman.
"She passed me on the street yesterday without speaking."
"She did?"
"Yes, the stuck up thing."
"I wouldn't say that. Perhaps she didn't mean to snub you."
"Of course she meant to snub me. You see, I had on my old hat."
"That wouldn't make any difference to her."
"Oh, wouldn't it? Once before when I happened to have on an old dress she didn't speak to me, either. Now I'm through with her. If she doesn't care enough for me to speak when I'm in my old clothes she needn't speak at all. I won't speak to her when I'm dressed up. That's all there is to it."
"Did you speak to her?"
"I should say not. It's her place to speak first. Do you suppose I'm going to attract attention by yelling my lungs out for the like of her? I guess not."
"Perhaps she didn't see you."
"See me? Of course she did. I saw her, didn't I? Then why didn't she see me?"—Detroit Free Press.

Tell us your gas engine tale of woe. Bring us your engine, we'll make it go.

Woe is His.

First.—My wife is my boss. I shall not deny.

Second.—She maketh me to lie down behind the bed when swell company comes, and she leadeth me behind her up Main street.

Third.—She restoreth my pocketbook after she has spent all of its contents for stylish skirts and theater tickets, and she leadeth me up the main aisle at church for her new hat's sake.

Fourth.—Yea, though I walk more than half the night through dark rooms with a crying baby I will get no rest, for she is behind me; her broomstick and her hatpin they do everything else but comfort me.

Fifth.—She prepareth a cold snack for me, then maketh a bee line for an aid society supper. She appointeth my hand with the rolling pin occasionally. My arms runneth over with the bundles before she is half done with her shopping.

Sixth.—Surely her dressmaker's and milliner's bills shall follow me all the days of her life, and I will dwell in the house of my wife forever.—Urlich (Mo.) Herald.

Signaling at Sea.

The custom of signaling at sea by means of various colored flags is very ancient, and the method seems to have been brought to a degree of development bordering very closely on perfection. Many people have been astonished at the length of messages conveyed in a few moments and with the use of but half a dozen flags in various combinations, and when the extent of the language and the complexity of many necessary messages are considered the eighteen flags in the signal flag locker seem very inadequate. However, it must be remembered that the signal code utilizes a sort of shorthand, and many long messages, known to be of frequent occurrence, have been contracted to a single showing of flags in a given combination. The number of flags hoisted when a signal is made never exceeds four. With the eighteen flags of various colors, using four for each signal, no fewer than 73,642 combinations can be made.

An English Ghost.

A Westmoreland ghost used to haunt the shores of Windermere, where the Lowthers from time immemorial have been lords of the lake—the "Cleric of Claife." One tempestuous night in preformation times a cry was heard across the water by the ferryman at the Nab Inn—"A boat!" The ferryman, against all his cronies' persuasions at the Inn, set out. After many hours he reached the Nab again, his boat dragged down by some unseen weight and himself with hair on end, a raving lunatic. Soon he died, and every stormy night his wraith was heard in agonized shrieks across from Claife till at last the resident monk of Furness was sought in his retreat on Lady Holm and persuaded to "lay" the unhappy spirit, which he duly did. Harriet Martineau and others tell the tale.—London Chronicle.

The Weaker Sex.

The young woman had spent a busy day.

She had browbeaten fourteen sales people, bullied a floorwalker, argued victoriously with a milliner, laid down the law to a modiste, nipped in the bud a taxi chauffeur's attempt to overcharge her, made a street car conductor stop the car in the middle of a block for her, discharged her maid and engaged another and otherwise refused to allow herself to be imposed upon.

Yet she did not smile that evening when a young man begged:

"Let me be your protector through life!"—Life.

New Angle on Help.

"Why did you inquire so particularly into the wardrobe of that girl you just hired?" asked one of two women who were leaving an employment agency. "To find out how carefully she will guard against burglars," said the other. "My experience has been that a girl who has nice things of her own will lock up more securely at night and keep a sharper eye out for sneak thieves in the daytime than one who has nothing of value to lose."—New York Press.

She Was Right.

"How effusively sweet that Mrs. Blonder is to you, Jonesey," said Witherell. "What's up? Any tender little romance there?"

"No, indeed. Why, that woman hates me," said Jonesey.

"She doesn't show it," said Witherell.

"No, but she knows that I know how old she is. We were both born on the same day," said Jonesey, "and she's afraid I'll tell somebody."—Harper's
